

Finding Aid - SPAAMFAA Archives - Fire Apparatus Manufacturers Collection

NOTES:

1. This finding aid is intended to provide a general summary as to the contents within the SPAAMFAA fire apparatus manufacturers collection. It is not intended to a detailed identification of every object, which number in the tens of thousands.
2. The database identifies, by individual manufacturer, physical location, storage type, content formats, date ranges and other relevant information.
3. Unless otherwise indicated, date ranges are assigned based on the objects depicted, not the date of the publication or photograph in which they appear. In many cases, such as with sales brochures, these dates are presumed to be one in the same.
4. When an object doesn't fit cleanly into one of the eleven sales and technical codes, the "TC" box is utilized. To create additional codes for every possible one-off format scenario did not seem efficient. Instead, they are typically called out in the "additional details" notes.
5. If a collection contains an item(s) which are thought to be special, the word "Noteworthy" will appear in the Notes column. An item could be deemed noteworthy due to its age, format, historical value or artistic merit.
6. Sales code "Price" includes prices from original proposals and/or asking prices for want ads.
7. Manufacturers w/multiple folders have one row for each folder but only "Additional Details" column is unique.
